

EHS OFFICER

ECCO Leather Group has its head office in the Netherlands, and tanneries in the Netherlands, China, Thailand and Indonesia. We are proud to carry out a traditional craft using modern techniques in our state of the art facilities. PT. ECCO Tannery Indonesia, as a part of ECCO Leather Group is looking for an EHS Officer to be stationed at their production facility in Sidoarjo, East Java.

Responsibilities:

- Ensure implementation of EHS Management system in accordance to company policies and procedures
- Assists with risk assessment of hazards and risks, environment aspects and impacts in the workplace
- Conduct regular inspections at workplace
- Implement PPE management system, investigation, and working permit system
- Prepare and conduct annual medical check up
- Assist and provide EHS awareness training
- Support Superior in developing EHS report to management and government
- Manage hazardous and non hazardous waste in accordance to company and government regulation

Qualifications :

- Minimum bachelor degree on Engineering, preferably majoring on Chemical Engineering
- Minimum 2 years of experiences within EHS at production environment (International Company)
- Experience on EHS Management System
- AK3U Certified will be an advantage

ECCO people have a passion for what they do and a drive to achieve the very best. This passion and drive are what characterize ECCO and what makes us a successful global company. At ECCO, we invest in our people. Our ambition is to be a highly attractive workplace, providing employees with ongoing opportunities for professional training and development, including a constant challenges. With about 20,000 employees from over 50 nationalities, you are offered a position with a genuine multinational business, that encompasses a rich mix of cultures, languages, and backgrounds.

Interested candidates should send their application letter and a comprehensive resume in English with a recent photograph to PTETI.RECRUITMENT@ECCO.COM. Only shortlisted candidates will be notified.